The Twin Lakes District Planning Commission (TLDPC) is excited to be able to provide this regional guide. The guide provides information about the various partners involved with the TLDPC.

The TLDPC is a partnership of nine municipal governments to foster inter-municipal cooperation and collaboration in joint planning for the entire North East area. The group shares a planner, thereby eliminating the need for each partner to create its own structure. Further, the regional approach provides the partner municipalities with a distinct advantage as residents and developers, alike, can go to each community and follow similar development requirements. This creates stability and consistency for the region and will undoubtedly attract both visitors and developers into the future.

On behalf of the Twin Lakes District Planning Commission partners, you are welcomed to the region and I trust that you will find this guide helpful in your future visits and adventures to the North East area of Saskatchewan.

Message from Twin Lakes District
Planning Commission Co-chair,
Rennie Harper.

Nipawin

Situated on the Saskatchewan River, between two man-made lakes, Tobin and Codette Lake, Nipawin's roots and history has clear and direct connections to the fur trade as far back as 1670. The highways were the waterways and the vehicle was the canoe, or on foot. Nipawin's history has clear links to the early explorers such as Henry Kelsey, LaVerendrye, Francois LeBlanc and James Finlay. Remnants of, and commemorations to the past remain part of Nipawin's charm and attraction even today.

Nipawin got its name from the word "nipawewin" meaning "waiting place." Since only physically vigorous young men were deemed capable of making the voyages by canoe over the hundred of miles of terrifying waters, the women and children would watch their fathers and husbands paddle away. The paddlers would address their families saying, "Nipawi" meaning (you) stand and (wait).

Those were the days when the voyageurs made long and difficult journeys to deliver the cargoes to the posts and to return with vessels laden with furs. Forts, such as Fort a la Corne, were established by La Verendrye and sons and others in about 1748. In about 1774, up the river, the first permanent settlement in Saskatchewan was established at Cumberland House (2 hours by road from Nipawin).

Mayor Rennie Harper with Chief Rene Chaboyer

The first settlers to the Nipawin area came in about 1906. The site of the “old” Nipawin saw activity for the first time in 1910 and was originally known as the Town of Ravine Bank. A few years later, the Canadian Pacific Railroad located four miles north west of the original settlement. The immense advantages of a railroad link with the outside to receive and send goods, grain, livestock, lumber, mail, passengers and the potential for a thriving distribution centre in the north was immediately recognized. Therefore, with the advent of the railway in 1924 and through a feat of incredible resourcefulness and endurance (which people in the community still demonstrate), the people of Ravine Bank moved every building with teams of horses and they carefully laid out the new town site in the jack pines adjacent to the station which bore the name Nipawin. That same station is available for viewing at the Town’s Living Forestry Museum.

Prior to 1928 there was really very little way of having contact with the “other side of the river” but in 1928 the CPR built a million-dollar bridge over the Saskatchewan River. The train still travels over the bridge and the vehicle traffic under it. The bridge has become known as Nipawin’s crooked bridge. The Town got a “new” bridge in 1973, but the “old Nipawin Bridge” is still used today.

History abounds and is celebrated across the north east area.

In 1967 and again 50 years later, in 2017, the Town of Nipawin hosted a re-enactment of the Voyageur canoes as they made their way down the Saskatchewan River to commemorate the people and the fur trade of the past and to celebrate the people of the future. Mayor Rennie Harper.

The Town of Nipawin has long been one of Saskatchewan's outdoor lifestyle destinations.

Located on the Saskatchewan River between Codette and Tobin Lakes, Nipawin is nestled between rich farmland to the south, and rugged forest to the north. Nipawin enjoys a rich history with vibrant arts & culture, and boasts world-class recreation including fishing, hunting, golf and multiple trail systems for hiking, cycling, snowmobiling, snowshoeing and cross-country skiing.

The town is situated on two major highways: Highway 35 from the U.S. border, and Highway 55 (Northern Woods & Water Route) which crosses Saskatchewan from Alberta to Manitoba.

Nipawin offers a wide variety of recreation opportunities, shopping, dining, accommodations, and an extensive array of services including health & beauty spas, banks, automobile service centers, dealerships, pharmacies, professional & government offices, medical clinics, and a post office.

Exceptional by Nature!

Nipawin provides access to breathtaking scenery and unforgettable experiences.

C A R R O T R I V E R . C A

Carrot River is SASKATCHEWAN'S OUTBACK™. Fringing lakes, rivers, forests and the Pasquia Hills, everything we do is out-back... That's Life Here.

The name "Carrot River" is derived from the wild carrots growing alongside the river which the first homesteaders crossed in 1911 to inhabit near it's north bank. Settlement was slow until the Canadian National Railroad reached the town site in 1931 bringing southern farmers seeking new locations away from the great drought on the prairies. Carrot River became a Village in 1941 and incorporated as a Town on April 1, 1948. With proximity to field, forest, and water, local economic strengths lie in agriculture. These assets are a good foundation for development and investment growth.

Choiceland

Where the Farmland Meets the Forest

Choiceland has all the advantages of small town living with ready access to the amenities of larger centres. Choiceland boasts about their clean and abundant water, picturesque scenery, majestic trees and a safe and friendly town atmosphere. The community offers the relaxing, tranquil lifestyle associated with small town living and includes the space to unfurl. The rich agricultural land surrounding this quaint community provides for their main industry of farming. The northern location and weather allows for production of some of the best quality cereal grains, pulse and grass crops in the world.

Cradled between the Torch and the North Saskatchewan Rivers, and nestled against Saskatchewan's beautiful northern boreal forest, Choiceland is the largest community in the geographical triangle between Nipawin, Prince Albert and Melfort. With so much to explore, this location puts Choiceland within an easy drive, on paved highways, to four regional parks - Wapiti (south), Nipawin (east), Narrow Hills, and the historic Hanson Lake Road (north) and Candle Lake Resort and Forest Preserve (west). Travel north through the town along a well-marked all-weather road and you link up with Highway 106. There you enter a vast, unspoiled land of virgin Boreal forest and clean pristine lakes.
